Time: 11:45 am to 12:45 pm

After completion of the first online session, next online began for this there was a guest introduction presented by Prof. Somnath Biradar Co-coordinator of IIC Cell KASCC, Bidar.

The answer to this question, as one can argue, is based on the meaning of the term innovation. A widespread perception on innovation is one that refers to advanced technology solutions offered by using the latest knowledge. Such innovations are mainly considered to be the result of highly skilled workforce and businesses activity with significant research and development intensity, having close linkages to the most important centers of excellence in the scientific world.

The significance of innovation is, however, broader and includes innovations that are not achieved within high-tech industry mentioned above. From this last perspective, innovations do not include only new products or processes, but also cover the improved ones resulted from the so-called low-tech sectors, which may have cumulative economic and social effects as important.

Mr. Gururaj Surampalli has been explained detailed about the Innovations & Technologies the following topic has been covered the Education Technology Objectives.

- Classroom and Institution Management
- Better Lectures and Presentations
- Reflect Work Conditions
- Remediation
- Technical Training
- Customized Learning
- Diagnostic Model of Education
- Extended Learning
- Self-Directed Learners

Dr.Chacko Preno Koshy concluded his talk with the motivated to young students of our college and sir has explained finally sharing the following information about is evidence that young people are enthusiastic about starting businesses. However, it is also clear that few young people actually start businesses relative to those who express an interest and that their failure rates exceed those in older population groups. This reflects a number of barriers affecting youth entrepreneurship in areas including skills, networks and financing; barriers that are often particular to youth or more severe for youth than for adults. Youth entrepreneurship is not a panacea for solving the youth unemployment problem but it does have a role to play in facilitating both - employment and entrepreneurship development, hence it can be a part of the response. While context clearly matters, to maximize effectiveness and efficiency, policy should target resources on young people with the best chance of success, provide sufficient support to allow them to start businesses outside the low entry barrier but high competition sectors, and provide integrated packages of complementary support rather than one-shot instruments.
